

What People Forget

Written by: Joanna Mosca (BMI), Jeremy Spillman (BMI)

He looked the same maybe just a touch
Older these days than when were in love
I said hello he said hi back
Who would have thought we'd come to that

I can still remember when I couldn't see the world without him
One goodbye and one new love ago but isn't it
Funny what people forget

We talked a while didn't say that much
We both smiled and never touched
I walked away I didn't look back
Who would have thought we'd come to that

I can still remember when I couldn't see the world without him
One goodbye and one new love ago but isn't it
Funny what people forget

There's some things that we don't forget
Maybe that's a gift cause

I can still remember when I couldn't see the world without him
One goodbye and one new love ago but isn't it
Funny what people forget